This 10 module curriculum will greatly benefit all health care professionals by advancing their knowledge of dementia and increasing awareness of alternate supportive approaches, thereby reducing the need for pharmacological interventions and other techniques that are ultimately harmful to those receiving care. This model was designed to provide low-cost, less intrusive, and safer alternatives for residents and healthcare providers alike when practiced consistently. This ultimately reduces poor health outcomes, hospital and geriatric-psychiatric admissions, and the cost of dementia care for facilities.

The model was designed to encourage staff to recognize and value the identity of each person living with dementia based on the domains of well-being.
